Based on his extensive caregiving experience, Randy has a passion to help those facing the Alzheimer's caregiving struggle. His goal is to inspire and encourage others to overcome obstacles and become all the caregiver they can be.

The Caregiving Memoir

The Alzheimer's Association estimates that there are 15.7 million family and other unpaid caregivers helping someone with dementia in the US. Randy was one of those people. He spent three years providing full time personal care to his ailing grandfather.
